NEW QUESTION: 3

HOTSPOT

You are creating a function by using JavaScript. The function accepts an object as the parameter and returns a string that identifies the data type of the object.

You have the following requirements:

- The function must return "Number" if the object is a number.
- The function must return "String" if the object is a string.
- The function must return "Unknown" if the object is neither a number nor a string.

You need to implement the function to meet the requirements. How should you build the code segment? (To answer, select the appropriate options from the drop-down lists in the answer area.) Hot Area:

Answer:
Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

* Use the switch statement to select one of many blocks of code to be executed.

Syntax

switch(expression) {
  case n:
    code block
    break;
  case n:
    break;
  default:
    default code block
}
```

This is how it works:

The switch expression is evaluated once.

The value of the expression is compared with the values of each case.

If there is a match, the associated block of code is executed.

* Object.prototype.constructor

Returns a reference to the Object function that created the instance's prototype. Note that the value of this property is a reference to the function itself, not a string containing the function's name. The value is only read-only for primitive values such as 1, true and "test".

* Description

All objects inherit a constructor property from their prototype:

var o = {};
o.constructor === Object; // true
var a = [];
a.constructor === Array; // true
var n = new Number(3);
n.constructor === Number; // true
```

* The constructor property is created together with the function as a single property of func.prototype.

Reference: JavaScript Switch

Statement;Object.prototype.constructor

NEW QUESTION: 4

Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains a domain controller named DC1 that runs Windows Server 2012. You have a Group Policy object (GPO) named GPO1 that contains several custom Administrative templates. You need to filter the GPO to display only settings that will be removed from the registry when the GPO falls out of scope. The solution must only display settings that are either enabled or disabled and that have a comment. How should you configure the filter? To answer, select the appropriate options below. Select three.

- A. Set Managed to: No
- B. Set Commented to: Yes
- C. Set Commented to: No
- D. Set Configured to: No
- E. Set Commented to: Any
- F. Set Configured to: Any
- G. Set Managed to: Yes
- H. Set Managed to: Any
- I. Set Configured to: Yes

Answer: B,F,G

Explanation:

A: Set Managed to: Yes

There are two kinds of Administrative Template policy settings: Managed and Unmanaged. The Group Policy Client service governs Managed policy settings and removes a policy setting when it is no longer within scope of the user or computer.

F: Set Configured to: Any

We want to display both settings that are enable and disabled.

G: Set Commented to: Yes

Only settings that are commented should be displayed.

Note: Filter with Property Filters

The Local Group Policy Editor allows you to change the criteria for displaying Administrative Template policy settings. By default, the editor displays all policy settings, including unmanaged policy settings.

However, you can use property filters to change how the Local Group Policy Editor displays Administrative Template policy settings.

There are three inclusive property filters that you can use to filter Administrative Templates. These property filters include:

*Managed

*Configured

*Commented
