NEW QUESTION: 2

What level of assurance for a digital certificate verifies a user's name, address, social security number, and other information against a credit bureau database?

- A. Level 3/Class 3
- B. Level 2/Class 2

- C. Level 4/Class 4
- D. Level 1/Class 1

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

Users can obtain certificates with various levels of assurance. Here is a list that describe each of them:

- Class 1/Level 1 for individuals, intended for email, no proof of identity For example, level 1 certificates verify electronic mail addresses. This is done through the use of a personal information number that a user would supply when asked to register. This level of certificate may also provide a name as well as an electronic mail address; however, it may or may not be a genuine name (i.e., it could be an alias). This proves that a human being will reply back if you send an email to that name or email address.
- Class 2/Level 2 is for organizations and companies for which proof of identity is required Level 2 certificates verify a user's name, address, social security number, and other information against a credit bureau database.
- Class 3/Level 3 is for servers and software signing, for which independent verification and checking of identity and authority is done by the issuing certificate authority Level 3 certificates are available to companies. This level of certificate provides photo identification to accompany the other items of information provided by a level 2 certificate.
- Class 4 for online business transactions between companies
- Class 5 for private organizations or governmental security
