NEW QUESTION: 1

You are designing a SQL Server Integration Services (SSIS) data flow to load sales transactions from a source system into a data warehouse hosted on Windows Azure SQL Database. One of the columns in the data source is named ProductCode.

Some of the data to be loaded will reference products that need special processing logic in the data flow.

You need to enable separate processing streams for a subset of rows based on the source product code.

Which Data Flow transformation should you use?

- A. Destination Assistant
- B. Multicast
- C. Conditional Split
- D. Script Task

Answer: C

Explanation:

Explanation: We use Conditional Split to split the source data into separate processing streams.

A Script Component (Script Component is the answer to another version of this question) could be used but this is not the same as a Script Task.

NEW QUESTION: 2

An Internet-facing multi-tier web application must be highly available. An ELB Classic Load Balancer is deployed in front of the web tier. Amazon EC2 instances at the web application tier are deployed evenly across two Availability Zones. The database is deployed using RDS Multi-AZ. A NAT instance is launched for Amazon EC2 instances and database resources to access the Internet. These instances are not assigned with public IP addresses.

Which component poses a potential single point of failure in this architecture?

- A. NAT instance
- B. Amazon EC2
- C. Amazon RDS
- D. ELB Classic Load Balancer

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 3

You are performing a semiannual capacity planning exercise for your flagship service. You expect a service user growth rate of 10% month-over-month over the next six months. Your service is fully containerized and runs on Google Cloud Platform (GCP).

using a Google Kubernetes Engine (GKE) Standard regional cluster on three zones with cluster autoscaler enabled. You currently consume about 30% of your total deployed CPU capacity, and you require resilience against the failure of a zone. You want to ensure that your users experience minimal negative impact as a result of this growth or as a result of zone failure, while avoiding unnecessary costs. How should you prepare to handle the predicted growth?

- A. Verify the maximum node pool size, enable a horizontal pod autoscaler, and then perform a load test to verify your expected resource needs.
- B. Because you are at only 30% utilization, you have significant headroom and you won't need to add any additional capacity for this rate of growth.
- C. Because you are deployed on GKE and are using a cluster autoscaler, your GKE cluster will scale automatically, regardless of growth rate.
- D. Proactively add 60% more node capacity to account for six months of 10% growth rate, and then perform a load test to make sure you have enough capacity.

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 4
