NEW QUESTION: 2

Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com.

You have a Microsoft Exchange Server 2019 organization for contoso.com that has two Internet-facing servers named EX01 and EX02.

In the public DNS zone, you have two MX records for contoso.com.

You discover that all email sent to the organization is delivered to EX01. However, when EX01 is down for maintenance, email messages are delivered successfully to EX02.

You need to ensure that email is delivered to both EX01 and EX02 during normal operations.

What should you modify?

- A. the properties of the Receive connector on EX01
- B. the weight of the MX records
- C. the priority of the MX records
- D. the properties of the Receive connector on EX02

The ServiceManager database is sometimes referred to as the CMDB. It is the central store of all configuration items and work items managed by Service Manager. It also stores all the customizations and configuration for the Service Manager product itself. DWStagingAndConfig stores the configuration for the data warehouse and is used as a temporary place to stage the data as it moves from the ServiceManager database into the other parts of the data warehouse (DWRepository and DWDataMart)
