NEW QUESTION: 1

Which of the following presents the GREATEST exposure to internal attack on a network?

- A. User passwords are encoded but not encrypted
- B. All users reside on a single internal subnet
- C. All network traffic goes through a single switch
- D. User passwords are not automatically expired

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

When passwords are sent over the internal network in an encoded format, they can easily be converted to clear text. All passwords should be encrypted to provide adequate security. Not automatically expiring user passwords does create an exposure, but not as great as having unencrypted passwords. Using a single switch or subnet does not present a significant exposure.

Configure Request Manager in SharePoint Server 2013

Request Manager is functionality in SharePoint Server 2013 that enables administrators to manage incoming requests and determine how SharePoint Server 2013 routes these requests.

The front-end web server filtering process follows these steps: The routing pool is either the current front-end web server or one or more front-end web servers that request routing selects.

All matching rules are checked to find the smallest health threshold value.

Remove front-end web servers in the routing pool that have health scores greater than or equal to the smallest health threshold value.
