NEW QUESTION: 1

In which of the following categories would creating a corporate privacy policy, drafting acceptable use policies, and group based access control be classified?

- A. Security control frameworks
- B. Compliance activity
- C. Access control methodologies
- D. Best practice

Answer: D

Explanation:

Best practices are based on what is known in the industry and those methods that have consistently shown superior results over those achieved by other means. Furthermore best practices are applied to all aspects in the work environment.

Incorrect Answers:

A. Security control frameworks refer to the backbone of SAFE (architecture) and unification is the underlying key to security which incorporates all parts of the network, including the WAN, the extranet, the Internet, and the intranet.

C. Access control methodologies refer to Mandatory-Discretionary- and Rule-based access control types that can be implemented.

D. Compliance activity usually comes into focus when a third party involvement is being considered.

NEW QUESTION: 3

Your network contains an Active Directory forest named contoso.com. You install System Center 2012 Virtual Machine Manager (VMM) on a server named Server1.

Users report that they fail to log on to the Virtual Machine Manager Self-Service Portal (VMMSSP). You need to ensure that users can log on to the VMMSSP.

What should you do first?

- A. From Authorization Manager, create a role definition and a role assignment.
- B. From Internet Information Services (IIS) Manager on Server1, modify the Authentication settings.
- C. From the Virtual Machine Manager command shell, run the New-SCUserRole cmdlet and the Set-SCUserRole cmdlet.

D. From the VMM Administrator Console, run the Create Run As Account Wizard

Answer: C

Explanation:

<http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/hh801722.aspx>

The New-SCUserRole cmdlet creates a user role for a group of System Center Virtual Machine Manager (VMM) users. You can create the following user roles: Delegated Administrator, Read-Only Administrator, and Self-Service User. Only one Administrator role exists; you cannot create another Administrator role or delete the existing one.

If you are a member of a Delegated Administrator user role, you can create a user role. However, the scope of the new user role must be a subset of the scope of its parent user role.

After you create a user role, you can use the Set-SCUserRole cmdlet to rename the user role, to add or remove members, and to add or modify the scope of objects that members of the role can manage. For a self-service user role, you can specify which actions members of a self-service user role can take on their virtual machines, and you can define a quota that limits the number of virtual machines self-service users can create.

Although you cannot create or remove the Administrator role or limit its scope, you can use Set-SCUserRole to add or remove members to that role.
