You support desktop computers and tablets that run Windows 8 Enterprise. All of the computers are able to connect to your company network from the Internet by using DirectAccess. Your company wants to deploy a new application to the tablets. The deployment solution must meet the following requirements: You need to deploy the new application to the tablets. What should you do?

- A. Deploy the application as an Application Virtualization (App-V) package. Install the App- V 4.6 client on the tablets.
- B. Publish the application to Windows Store.
- C. Install Hyper-V on tablets. Install the application on a virtual machine.
- D. Install the application within a separate Windows 8 installation in a virtual hard disk (VHD) file. Configure the tablets with dual boot.
- E. Install the application in a Windows To Go workspace.
- F. Install the application within a separate Windows 8 installation in a VHDX file. Configure tablets with dual boot.
- G. Deploy the application as a published application on the Remote Desktop server. Create a Remote Desktop connection on the tablets.
- H. Install the application on a local drive on the tablets.

Answer: G

Explanation:

Deploying the application as a published application on the Remote Desktop server will use no disk space on the tablets. Users will be able to access the application by using Remote Desktop Connections. This will also ensure that the application is isolated from other applications on the tablets.

We can use Remote Desktop Connection 'redirection' to ensure that the application is able to access files stored on an internal solid-state drive (SSD) on the tablets. Redirection enables access to local resources such as drives, printers etc. in a Remote Desktop Connection.
