NEW QUESTION: 3
What is one disadvantage of content-dependent protection of information?
A. It increases processing overhead
B. It limits the user's individual address space
C. It exposes the system to data locking
D. It requires additional password entry
Answer: A
Explanation:
Content-Dependent Access Control
"Just like the name sounds, access to objects is determined by the content within the object. This is used many times in databases and the type of Web-based material a firewall allows...If a table within the database contains information about employees' salaries, the managers were not allowed to view it, but they could view information about an employee's work history. The content of the database fields dictates which user can see specific information within the database tables." pg 161 Shon Harris: All-In-One CISSP Certification. Decisions will have to be made about the content, therefore increasing processing overhead.
