NEW QUESTION: 1

Your network contains an Exchange Server 2010 server.

You need to plan a mailbox sharing solution for the organization to meet the following requirements:

- Ensure that assistants can read and modify the e-mail messages of their managers

- Ensure that assistants can impersonate their managers when they send e-mail messages

What should you include in the plan?

A. Full Access and send on behalf of permissions

B. Full Access and Send As permissions

C. Role Based Access Control (RBAC) assignments and Send As permissions

D. Role Based Access Control (RBAC) assignments and send on behalf of permission

Answer: B

Explanation:

Corrected:

New-ManagementScope -Name:ImpersonationScope
-RecipientRestrictionFilter: {MemberOfGroup -eq
"CN=Impersonated Users,CN=Users,DC=yourserver,DC=com"} What is Exchange Impersonation? Exchange Impersonation is a mechanism that allows a single Windows Active Directory account to act on behalf of other users on a Microsoft Exchange mailbox as if they were performing the action themselves. In other words, assuming I create an Active Directory logon called ewsproxy
(which we will do later on), and I give ewsproxy Exchange
Impersonation privileges for users froggf and hippoh, ewsproxy can perform any action that froggf or hippoh can perform on their mailboxes.

Exchange Impersonation is not the only way to do this. There are a number of alternatives that can be used, but none of them work quite as well as Exchange Impersonation: Delegate - You can delegate rights to other accounts to act on your behalf, but you have to do it from your Exchange client (Outlook). In other words, the end-user controls these rights and can grant and revoke privileges as desired. Delegation is really a mechanism for a user to give another user permissions on their mailbox. Send As - An Administrator can set up an account so that it can send mail on behalf of another account. This permission allows most of the same behavior as Exchange Impersonation, with one subtle difference: A user can act on behalf of another user from their Exchange client, whereas with Exchange Impersonation, it is only through the Exchange Web Services API that a user can act on behalf of another user. You cannot use impersonation to send emails as another user using SMTP authentication, OWA or Outlook. Exchange impersonation is designed to be used only for Exchange Web Services (EWS). For other requirements, you should use "Send As" right

AWS
 KMS is a managed service that makes it easy to create and control the encryption keys used to encrypt your data. Deleting a customer master key (CMK) in AWS Key Management Service (AWS KMS) is destructive and potentially dangerous. It deletes the key material and all metadata associated with the CMK, and is irreversible. After a CMK is deleted you can no longer decrypt the data that was encrypted under that CMK, which means that data becomes unrecoverable. You should delete a CMK only when you are sure that you don't need to use it anymore. If you are not sure, consider disabling the CMK instead of deleting it. You can re-enable a disabled CMK if you need to use it again later, but you cannot recover a deleted CMK. For more information on deleting keys from KMS, please visit the below URL:

 The correct answer is: Disable the keys Submit your Feedback/Queries to our Experts

Answer : D

Explanation:

Explanation

Option A is invalid because once you schedule the deletion and waiting period ends, you cannot come back from the deletion process.

Option C and D are invalid because these will not check to see if the keys are being used or not The AWS Documentation mentions the following Deleting a customer master key (CMK) in AWS Key Management Service (AWS KMS) is destructive and potentially dangerous. It deletes the key material and all metadata associated with the CMK, and is irreversible.
