Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 2

The following image properties are displayed on your system:

Which two options describe the boot environment policy property that is currently set for this image?

- A. A reboot is not required after a package operation.
- B. A reboot is required for all package operations
- C. Do not create a new BE. The install,update,uninstall,or revert operation is not performed if a new BE is required.
- D. All package operations are performed in a new BE set as active on the next boot.
- E. For package operations that require a reboot,this policy creates a new BE set as active on the next boot.
- F. If a BE is created,do not set it as the active BE on the next boot

Answer: B,E

Explanation:

Image properties described below.

* be-policy Specifies when a boot environment is created during packaging operations. The following values are allowed: / default Apply the default BE creation policy: create-backup.

/ always-new (D,F)

Require a reboot for all package operations (D) by performing them in a new BE set as active on the next boot (F). A backup BE is not created unless explicitly requested.

This policy is the safest,but is more strict than most sites need since no packages can be added without a reboot.

NEW QUESTION: 4

You need a distributed, scalable, data Store that allows you random, realtime read/write access to hundreds of terabytes of data. Which of the following would you use?

- A. Flume
- B. Pig
- C. Hive
- D. Oozie
- E. Hue
- F. Sqoop
- G. HBase

Answer: G

Explanation:

Use Apache HBase when you need random, realtime read/write access to your Big Data.

Note: This project's goal is the hosting of very large tables -- billions of rows X millions of columns

-atop clusters of commodity hardware. Apache HBase is an open-source, distributed, versioned, column-oriented store modeled after Google's Bigtable: A Distributed Storage System for Structured Data by Chang et al. Just as Bigtable leverages the distributed data storage provided by the Google File System, Apache HBase provides Bigtable-like capabilities on top of Hadoop and HDFS.

Features

Linear and modular scalability.

Strictly consistent reads and writes.

Automatic and configurable sharding of tables

Automatic failover support between RegionServers.

Convenient base classes for backing Hadoop MapReduce jobs with Apache HBase tables.

Easy to use Java API for client access.

Block cache and Bloom Filters for real-time queries.

Query predicate push down via server side Filters

Thrift gateway and a REST-ful Web service that supports XML, Protobuf, and binary data

encoding options

Extensible jruby-based (JIRB) shell

Support for exporting metrics via the Hadoop metrics subsystem to files or Ganglia; or via JMX
